

A Song of Ice and Fitz

The Story So Far

In December of last year, Alexander I was crowned King of Fitzeros and the Huntingdon Isles, promising to listen to his subjects and change their lives for the better. He was to be supported in this endeavour by a stellar small council, comprised of: Lord Damiano, Hand of the King; Lord Maximilian, Master of Coin; Lady Eleanor, Grand Maester; Lady Zoe, Master of Whisperers; Lady Isla and Lord Jake, Masters of Healing; Lady Sophie, Master of Ships; Lady Cait, Master of Laws; Lady Fenella, Master of Festivities; and each of their sub-committees.

Nine months later, the gestation period is over and a new Fitzeros has been born. We've had a hearty debate about CUSU affiliation, acquired table football and free pool, set up an awesome new website, organised a shadowing scheme, put on oodles of events for welfare, entertainment and ethical affairs, and generally made college life more glorious than ever before. #InCicaleWeTrust

Fitzeros Population Surges

In the past week, Fitzeros has experienced an influx of new citizens from around the globe. Over a hundred people have relocated to behind the city's concrete walls, drawn by the promise of high quality teaching and free pool, in what experts say is fast becoming an annual trend.

Always keen to welcome new citizens, the small council has put all efforts into organising a multitude of events to make the newcomers feel at home—an initiative headed by Lady Fenella and her Festivities Committee. New Fitzerosians have been taken on a tour of the local taverns, given a showcase of the city's musical talents and have even been invited to attend one of our famous Grand Banquets, where the mead flows freely and music is provided by the finest bards from across the land. Sources say that it went pretty well.

Got something to say to the small council? A burning question or a cool suggestion? Feel free to get in touch via our website at fitzjcr.com or contact us directly at our JCR email addresses, which can also be found on the website.

Otherwise, we have regular open meetings at which we discuss a variety of college-wide matters. You are welcome to attend these and will receive an email with the agenda every time one's coming up.

Voices of Tomorrow Competition

- What are the world's biggest challenges facing the world over the next 30 years?
- How should the biotech industry Bridge the Gaps?
- What will healthcare and agriculture look like in 2050?
- Are you, or do you know, a Leader of Tomorrow?

I wish to introduce you to GapSummit 2016, the flagship event of Global Biotech Revolution. GapSummit is GBR's global and inter-generational leadership summit in biotechnology. It will be next held from 4th to 6th April 2016 at the University of Cambridge UK, one of the leading biotech clusters of the world.

Applications to GapSummit and the Voices of Tomorrow competition will open on 19th September 2015 and close on 29th November, with an interim deadline of 25th October.

Since applications are likely to be competitive, early registration is advised.

Further information can be found on our website.

Seven Reasons to Apply:

1. Be an ambassador for your country with 100 other Leaders of Tomorrow (students, researchers, professionals and entrepreneurs) from around the world.
2. Meet international Leaders of Today, including biotech CEOs, venture capitalists, policy makers and research pioneers. Confirmed speakers include:

Dr. Peder Holk Nielsen, CEO of Novozymes

Prof. Sir John Walker, Nobel Prize Winner

Dr. Jeremy Levin, CEO of Ovid Therapeutics & former CEO of Teva

Dr. Sophie Kornowski-Bonnet, Head of Roche Partnering

Fiona Cicconi, Executive VP Human Resources, AstraZeneca

Dr. Jim Smith, Deputy CEO of Medical Research Council & Director of Research, Francis Crick Institute

3. Network with potential employers and discover career opportunities with the most influential companies and academic institutes, such as Roche Group, AstraZeneca, MedImmune, McKinsey, Merck Group, Potter Clarkson and PHG Foundation.

4. Identify long term career plans in line with the future trends and opportunities highlighted at the summit.

5. Gain an awareness of the "bigger picture". Discuss the current global bioeconomy and the grand challenges to be solved by 2050.

6. Conceptualise and develop ideas to impact society now. Compete in the Voices of Tomorrow business plan competition and win seed funding and additional mentoring opportunities.

7. Meet talented peers, dine and enjoy the surroundings of one of the finest universities in the world!

GBR will cover accommodation and meals during GapSummit 2016 for all successful applicants. Limited travel awards will be available on a competitive basis.

For more information, visit www.gapsummit.com. Register your interest and be the first to receive news when applications open.

Lord of the Flies

By William Golding, adapted for the stage by Nigel Williams

National tour of the Regent's Park Theatre production

Tuesday 6 – Saturday 10 October 2015, 7.30pm (+ matinees)

Corn Exchange

William Golding's 20th century classic Lord of the Flies explodes onto the stage in a remarkable production direct from London's award-winning Regent's Park Theatre, creators of the recent Cambridge hit, To Kill a Mockingbird.

When a group of schoolboys survive a catastrophic plane crash, what starts as a desert island adventure quickly descends into a struggle for survival in a darkly sinister world of superstition and immorality.

Christian Graduate Society

Christian Graduate Society exists to provide a community of faith and fellowship to Christian graduates and help reach out to fellow students with the good news of Jesus Christ. ## Railway Club

Dear All,

I am delighted to inform you that the Cambridge University Railway Club has a sterling list of speakers for Michaelmas, as well as several trips/visits planned for the academic year. A brilliant opportunity to meet a top graduate employer, hear more about the railway industry or just look at photos of trains (we won't tell).

This term we have several speakers you might be interested in hearing, held in the William Thatcher Room, Fitzwilliam College at 20:30:

Wednesday 14th October - Tim Shoveller, Managing Director of South West Trains

Wednesday 21st October – David Horne, Managing Director of Virgin Train East Coast

Friday 13th November – Rob Holden, Chairman of High Speed One

Friday 20th November – Clare Moriarty, Director General of Rail Executive, Department for Transport

Wednesday 25th November – Aidan Grisewood, Director of Rail of Transport Scotland

Visits include Bombardier Rail UK, Wabtec Doncaster, Hitachi Newton Aycliffe and DB Schenker UK. All top employers and interesting sites to see, more-so.

We have a termly journal titled the Eagle, and we are exceptionally interested in hearing from you if you fancy a journalistic, photographic or design career as we are looking for much needed student input into the journal through reporting on speakers and conducting interviews to publish in the Eagle. A great opportunity to boast your CV!

Entry to talks are initially free, but if you become a regular we shall ask for membership payment or there shall be a £2 door fee upon your 4th entry without membership. Membership starts from £8 a year or £20 for life and entitles you to come on visits, as well as receive the Eagle journal.

Email me back or visit <http://www.cusu.co.uk/groups/railway-club-curc-cambridge-university> for more information.

Have a great term!

Seb

CURC President

CU Yugosphere Society

Dear Freshers and current students,
The Cambridge University

Yugosphere Society (CUYUS) would like to wish a warm welcome to the University of Cambridge to Freshers and warm welcome back to all current students after their holidays! We are a student-run organisation founded in June 2013 by and for members of the University who come from countries of former Yugoslavia and any University members that have an interest in the people and cultures of this region.

CUYUS is here to support your integration into British society and the University, as well as provide a social and informal setting where you can meet like-minded people as you settle in. Events are planned that will help develop and promote the interest in the Arts, Cultures, History and People of the countries of the former Yugoslavia for all university members, thus providing an additional opportunity for you to meet people at the University.

CUYUS will organise Welcome event on the 24 October 2015, where we are looking forward to meeting you and giving you just a taster of plethora of events in plan, so do save the date! More info about the event and society can be found on CUYUS website, Facebook or CUSU page:
